

Ten Russians Jailed In Yugo

Convicted Of Spying For Stalin

Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, Dec. 9.—(AP)—A Yugoslav court sentenced 10 white Russians today to imprisonment at hard labor on charges of aiding Nazi Germany during World War II and spying since against Premier Marshal Tito's regime on behalf of the Soviet Union.

The terms ranged from three to 20 years.

A grey-bearded Russian orthodox priest, the Rev. Aleksei Krishko, who once served in the general headquarters of the Czarist Russian army, was sentenced to 11 years and six months. He is 64.

Sets 20 Years

Arson Boremovic, a small and poker-faced man who was a judge and state prosecutor under the pro-Nazi wartime government in Croatia, received a 20-year sentence.

Vladimir Ognjev, angular one-time captain in the Czarist army and chairman of the white Russian colony in Sarajevo, got six years.

The silver-haired Ksenia Komad, once a Russian Orthodox nun and later a school teacher, who is still trim and attractive, was sentenced to three years.

The others and their sentences were: Anatoly Polaykov, 10 years; Ilya Zherebkov, six years; Vasilko Kostyukov, five years; Vadim Gessler, five years; Peter Sokolov, four years, six months; and Georg Olyshevski, four years.

All of them, with the exception of Father Krishko and Boremovic, testified they were guilty. The priest denied the charges. Boremovic presented the most vigorous defense.

The defendants were a group of displaced persons of the Russian revolution of 1917 who had sought asylum under Yugoslavia's monarchy before World War II.

Some of them, faced with the choice of living under the Communist government in Yugoslavia or the same type in their homeland, chose to seek Soviet citizenship.

In 1947, Moscow noted approval. Some were given Russian passports, but with conditions that prevented them from returning immediately to their native land.

As the prosecution in the trial put it, they were led "step by step" through the process of becoming, consciously or unconsciously, spies and propaganda agents for Russia, despite their previous collaboration with the German Nazis.

Gillette Charges Speculators Rigged U.S. Coffee Market

Washington, Dec. 9.—(P)—Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) charged today that speculators "rigged" the U.S. coffee market in October and November and "practically doubled" the price of coffee for American consumers.

"There is no doubt in my mind there has been manipulation," Gillette told a reporter. "The evidence is clear that the market has been rigged and the American public is paying the piper."

But Robert B. Elwood, an official of the American embassy in Brazil, said a big jump in world coffee consumption and dwindling reserve supplies in Brazil played a major role in making American households pay more for the beverage. Elwood testified before a Senate subcommittee headed by Gillette.

In Rio de Janeiro, President Ruy Almeida of the coffee exchange there insisted no speculation was involved in the recent rise in coffee prices.

"The advance came about naturally from lower production and higher consumption at the same time," Almeida said.

Farmer Saves Fast Passenger Train From Bad Wreck

Tampa, Fla., Dec. 9.—(AP)—An alert farmer saved the "Southland" Atlantic Coast line passenger train, from a serious wreck today.

Members of the train crew told this story:

The farmer, W. C. Peters, saw a huge log fall from a northbound timber train and lodge between the Southbound rails near Istachatta. That is about 40 miles north of Tampa.

Knowing the ACL's "Southland" was due soon, Peters ran several hundred yards up the track and flagged the train. It stopped only about 100 feet from the log.

"It would have been awful if we had hit that log," the trainmen commented. "It would have scattered the Southland all over the woods."

Blasts Alarming Rise Of Teen-Age Criminals In U.S.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—(P)—"The young kid, who'd killed four people in cold blood, was walking the last mile to the electric chair," John S. Boyle, state's attorney of Cook (Chicago) county was addressing today's convention of Illinois county and probate judges.

Continued Boyle: "With the kid were the warden, the minister of the gospel, the jailer, the doctor, the prosecuting attorney, the reporters. The boy turned to the minister and said 'If they'd all paid as much attention to me before I got here as they have since I got here, I would never have got here.'"

Boyle was emphasizing to the lawyers at their 48th annual meet the theme of his address, crime prevention.

"The fact that the age of felons committing the most serious crimes—murder, manslaughter, rape, armed robbery—has dropped sharply into the teen age brackets, is an appalling development of our day," said Boyle.

"There has been an alarming increase in the crimes committed by boys and girls between the ages of 12 to 19 years."

Boyle outlined for the judges from all over the state the efforts being taken by public and private groups and committees in Cook county to work for the prevention of crime, rather than its mere punishment.

Maryland Town Blighted As Only Industry Fails

Shallmar, Md., Dec. 9.—(P)—A grim picture of suffering and near-starvation came to light today in this tiny western Maryland town, blighted by the standstill of its only industry—coal mining.

J. Paul Andrick, principal of a 50-pupil elementary school here, reported he had sent one girl home when she appeared faint with hunger.

His investigation disclosed that her family "has literally been living on apples for two weeks."

Other pupils were forced to stay home for lack of clothing, he said. "Virtually the sole means of employment for the 50-odd families of Shallmar was the Wolf Den coal mine."

"There is no place for the men to turn," said Charles L. Briner, of the state department of employment security at Oakland, the Garrett county seat. "There has been no work since March and there was very little in 1948."

Jesse Walker, superintendent of the small mine, said a lack of orders caused the company to go on "broken time"—two or three days a week—in August, 1948.

For the same reason, it shut down altogether last March 31. Between 85 and 90 miners on the payroll were thrown on relief.

LEG BONE GRAFTED TO POLIO VICTIM

Boston, Dec. 9.—(P)—An operation in which a bone from his wife's left leg was grafted to the spine of a polio victim was reported today by physicians at Massachusetts General hospital.

The operation was performed on Mario Lopardo, 34, to strengthen what physicians described as "a steadily worsening spinal curvature."

Mrs. Lopardo said she consented to have the bone removed from her leg after physicians told her the operation would enable her husband to lead a more normal life.

Formosa Faces Economic Crisis As Host To Capital

Taipei, Formosa, Dec. 9.—(P)—Chiang Kai-Shek stayed behind on the mainland today organizing guerrilla warfare while the nationalist government and cabinet began functioning in this new capital on the island bastion off China's southeast coast.

The island faces grave economic problems in playing host to the refugee government.

(Dispatches from Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa in the former capital of Chengtu and from Hong Kong indicated that all was not yet lost to the nationalists in Yunnan province of southwest China.)

(Premier Yen Hsi-Shan, arriving in Formosa Thursday, said the airfield at Yunnan's capital of Kunming "had been occupied." This was taken in Taipei to mean the long-feared defection of Governor Lu Han of Yunnan had occurred. Lu rebelled briefly in September.

Socialism or Free Enterprise Put To Vote In Australia

Sydney, Australia, Saturday, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Australians voted today in a parliamentary election offering a choice between free enterprise and continued socialism.

Political observers figure the outcome will be close. Most bookmakers around Sydney have offered only even money. The odds have varied widely elsewhere in this sprawling South Pacific land of many bettors.

Key men in the socialist-minded Australian Labor party, which has been in power eight years, declare the labor government will be returned with a majority of 10 seats in the House of representatives.

Spokesmen of the combined opposition, the liberal and country parties, say victory will be theirs by a margin of eight seats.

Persons eligible to vote—nearly 5,000,000 of Australia's 8,000,000 population—are required by a 25-year-old federal law to cast ballots. Those who do not vote are liable to fines up to $5.

The polls opened at 8 a.m. (4 p.m. CST Friday) and will close at 8 p.m. (4 a.m. CST Saturday).

The government is made up from the group winning the House of representatives. The Labor government held 43 of the 74 seats in the old House and 33 of the 36 in the Senate. In this election, however, the membership of the House will be expanded to 123 and the Senate to 60.

Members of his Yugoslav military mission were expelled from their homes in the Soviet sector of Berlin after an all-night police blockade.

Communists in western Germany suspended a communist member of the Bonn parliament and rolled up their sleeves for a full-scale purge of Titoist elements.

The Russians moved against Marshal Tito's military mission through the communist east zone interior ministry.

Lt. Col. Monchillo Sibinovich, chief of the Yugoslav delegation, got abrupt notice last night that he and his mission could no longer stay on east zone ground. The mission's members have their homes in the Soviet sector, their offices in the British sector of West Berlin.

The Yellow Kid Beats Confidence Game Rap Over $3

Chicago, Dec. 9.—(P)—The dapper Yellow Kid—Joseph Weil, an internationally known con man—beat a $3 confidence game rap today.

The Yellow Kid, who boasts that his swindles ran into millions of dollars, was accused of swindling a Catholic charity out of the $3.

He declined to testify today, but an associate, Austin Lee, and Sister Ludvine, superintendent of the Catholic Home for the Aged, agreed that the institution had authorized Weil's solicitation of construction funds. Judge Charles S. Dougherty ruled there was no evidence of a confidence game.

Weil specifically was charged with endorsing the check made out to the Little Sisters of the Poor, the order which operates the home.

Israel, Jordan Vow To Fight UN Measure

New York, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The U.N. Assembly voted decisively tonight to put Jerusalem under supreme international rule of the United Nations.

Israel and Hashemite Jordan, with armed forces actually in possession of the city in separate sectors, both opposed the plan and said they would fight against it.

The vote on the whole resolution was 38 to 14, with 7 abstentions. This was well above the two-thirds margin required for approval. Loud cheers greeted the vote at 7:15 p.m. (CST).

The United States and Britain took a beating by this vote. Both pointed out to the assembly the U. N. has no police force to carry out the decision and that it might eventually cost far more than the $40,000,000 annually required to run the U. N. itself.

A Swedish-Netherlands resolution for progressive demilitarization of Jerusalem and internationalization of only the holy place was not acted on.

The assembly adjourned at 7:17 p.m. until tomorrow. It still must approve the annual U. N. budget before final adjournment, expected some time after tomorrow noon.

The vote on the sector relating to internationalization was 39 to 14, with 6 abstentions. It was greeted with cheers from the majority side, including Russia.

Earlier the assembly had beaten down a surprise move by Uruguay and Denmark to abandon consideration of the Jerusalem question at this assembly—scheduled to adjourn tomorrow—and to have a special session on Jerusalem some time next year. The vote was 21 in favor, 33 against and five abstentions.

Reports British Health Program Is Working Very Well

London, Dec. 9.—(P)—Oscar Ewing, President Truman's welfare chief, said today Britain's tax-supported health service is working remarkably well, confirming "my deep conviction that the national health insurance proposal will be good for America."

The federal security administrator accused some American doctors of "unfair and dangerous" interference in Britain's service. He also said the American Medical association is "conducting an emotional campaign against national health insurance in the United States." He asserted the AMA is fostering wrong ideas of the British program.

"The group appears to be using part of the $25 levy per member it made for 'educational purposes' to finance the visits of disgruntled British doctors to lecture in the United States on the evils of the British program," Ewing said at a news conference.

He also said he had been "horried to learn that certain groups in organized American medicine" have been making financial contributions to "a small group of die hard British doctors" opposing Britain's health program.

Harvard Professor Wins Court Fight With Taxi Driver

Chicago, Dec. 9.—(P)—A Harvard university professor stood before the judge this morning. He had been arrested because he refused to pay a $4.15 taxi bill.

Judge John Gutknecht looked at Robert Schaefer, 32, of Boston, and told him:

"If I were you I wouldn't pay a nickel for that ride."

"I must apologize to you from the bench."

"On the grounds of the evidence before me I should find the cab driver guilty, but unfortunately there are no charges against him."

The cab driver, Victor S. Serrano, had contended that he had waited outside a tavern for the educator for two hours last Wednesday. Schaefer said he'd merely got into the cab, knowing nothing about it previously.

A similar trip had cost him $1.15 previously.

The judge cited the city ordinance against gouging taxi passengers, and told the professor: "I think you have grounds for a civil suit. I am sorry we have wasted your time."

Schaefer is here attending a convention.

APPOINTS PROBATION OFFICER

Chicago, Dec. 9.—(P)—Federal judges in Chicago today appointed a teacher from Indiana university as chief probation officer of the federal courts. He is Ben Meeker, assistant professor of social service.

Thomas Begins To Serve Term For Payroll Padding

Washington, Dec. 9.—(P)—Prison gates closed behind Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-N.J.) tonight as he began to serve his six to 18 months sentence for cheating the government by padding his congressional payroll.

The New Jersey legislator entered the Federal Correctional Institution at Danbury, Conn., after a train and automobile trip from Washington. He was sentenced here this forenoon.

Thomas' last word to newsmen before donning prison garb centered on his wife's announcement earlier that she would seek his seat in congress.

Asked what he thought of his wife's chances, Thomas told reporters:

"I think she'll win."

Even as Thomas was led away from the Federal courtroom this morning, Mrs. Thomas announced her candidacy and said she would carry on the "struggle against subversive influences" which he conducted as chairman of the House un-American activities committee during the Republican controlled 80th congress.

"As his wife," she said, "I can do no less."

In addition to his prison sentence, Thomas was ordered to pay a $10,000 fine.

Announces Illinois Public Aid Group In Red This Year

Chicago, Dec. 9.—(P)—The Illinois public aid commission will have a deficit of more than $20,882,000 by July 1, 1951, if it continues assistance payments at the present rate, the commission said today.

Chairman Henry F. Tenney said in a statement that the situation is "particularly critical" in general relief and aid to dependent children and less critical in old age pensions. The blind assistance program, the commission's fourth responsibility, is operating on a balanced budget.

Tenney said funds for general relief will be exhausted in February, 1951, at the present rate of spending, despite a 10 per cent across-the-board cut last September. By the end of the present legislative fiscal biennium, on July 1, 1951, general relief will have a deficit of more than $11,536,000. And unemployment will be adding names to the relief rolls, Tenney said.

The aid to dependent children program will run out of money in April, 1951, and face a deficit of $3,838,000, despite a five per cent cut in allowances Sept. 1. Old age pension funds will be exhausted in June, 1951, with an expected deficit of $3,808,000.

The federal security administrator accused some American doctors of "unfair and dangerous" interference in Britain's service. He also said the American Medical association is "conducting an emotional campaign against national health insurance in the United States." Remarks Ike May Run For President

Washington, Dec. 9.—(P)—New Republican Senator Harry Darby of Kansas said today he would "not be a bit surprised" if Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower should be a candidate for the presidency in 1942.

Eisenhower was born in Texas but his family moved to Kansas when he was 2 years old. He now is president of Columbia University.

In response to a question, Darby said:

"General Eisenhower is a very popular fellow in Kansas. While there has been no favorite son movement started there, there would be a lot of interest and sentiment for him if he runs."

Darby, a Republican national committeeman, recently was appointed to the senate by Gov. Frank Carlson to succeed the late Clyde Reed.

POLITICS AND "PRINCIPLES"

A man named Walter Prescott Webb, professor of history at the University of Texas, has some ideas on politics that are new and different. Whether they are right is another question. But they seem to have enough support in history to merit our attention.

Political experts have been trying for decades to understand the ups and downs of American political parties. Swings in the economy from boom to bust, the cycle of social change, the waxing and waning of particular public personalities, these are among the factors set down to explain the rise and fall of party fortunes.

Webb, writing in the magazine Southwest Review, takes a longer view than any of these notions embraces. He believes that political debate inevitably focuses on some great principle.

"The party that originates the principle and establishes it, does so in a national crisis," says Webb. "As long as the principle works, it is almost impossible to dislodge the party that discovered it."

He contends the Republican party found such a principle after the Civil war. It linked itself with a new and growing force—business—and fostered the idea that what is good for business is good for the country.

According to Webb, that principle worked for a long time and kept the GOP in national power most of the period from the Civil War until the Great Depression.

In that crisis, he adds, the Democrats seized the chance to try out a new principle—wider use of government authority for the relief and welfare of farmers, workingmen, home owners, and many other groups in society.

Webb passes no judgment on this principle, but simply notes that, like the one adopted by the Republicans in the 1860s, it has been politically effective.

He thinks the Democrats' principle will go on working until, in some crisis, it fails. Only then, he says, will the GOP have an opportunity to move in on a long-term basis by grasping another new principle that can gain popular support.

In the meantime, Webb believes the Republicans can only criticize the operation of the Democrats' welfare principle, and bide their time.

We leave it to the experts to reconcile Webb's theory with others. Obviously the "great principle" could not be the sole factor at work, for Democrats won the presidency during the long Republican ascendancy and the GOP took Congress in 1946 amid the big Democratic days.

But if there is some single strong thread running through these long periods when one or the other party has tended to dominate the scene, it could very likely be the sort of principle of which Webb speaks.

Should that be so, Webb's panoramic study of party fortunes may help the Republicans clarify their outlook for 1950 and 1952. It may hasten the search for a new principle which the party might offer the nation when the moment comes for another great swing of the pendulum.

Right now there is not the slightest hint what that principle might be. All that seems clear is that it probably cannot be the same one the GOP embraced in former times, nor can it copy the Democrats' welfare state. Somehow it will have to break entirely new ground.

2nd Annual Oratorical Contest Held At I. C.

Miss Virginia Lee Wilhoit of this city and Robert Paul Smith of Freeport were winners of the second annual William D. Sanders oratorical contest, held Thursday night at Jones Chapel, Illinois college. Both young people received plaques which will be presented to their respective societies.

Miss Wilhoit, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Wilhoit, 760 West Douglas avenue, is affiliated with Sigma Phi Epsilon Literary society.

Coping With Communism
Her subject was "Freedom to End Freedom," a treatise on coping with the communist party, in which she attempted to show that outlawing the party would force it underground and, as a result, succeed in strengthening it.

The solution proposed by Miss Wilhoit was to proceed with a positive approach of Democracy.

The winner of the men's award is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Smith of Freeport and a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon Literary society.

"We Shall Nobly Save" was the topic of Mr. Smith's address, which dealt mankind's failure to solve his greatest problem, that of establishing a workable relationship with his fellow man.

Mr. Smith maintained that man is too concerned with personal gain and that nations, also, hold an avaricious attitude in their treatment of human values.

The corrective process, contended Mr. Smith, lies with each individual. He concluded with the idea that each individual must realize his obligations and duties to his fellow man and that nations would respond accordingly.

Others competing in the contest were Geraldine Elizabeth Miller of South Bend, Ind., a member of Alpha Eta Phi, who had as her topic "Just Think"; Donna Jean Postlewait of Chapin, Gamma Delta, her topic, "Atmosphere for Democracy"; Nancyann Fernandes, city, Chi Beta; "The Decision"; and Richard Henry Mills, city, Phi Alpha, "Man Without a Country."

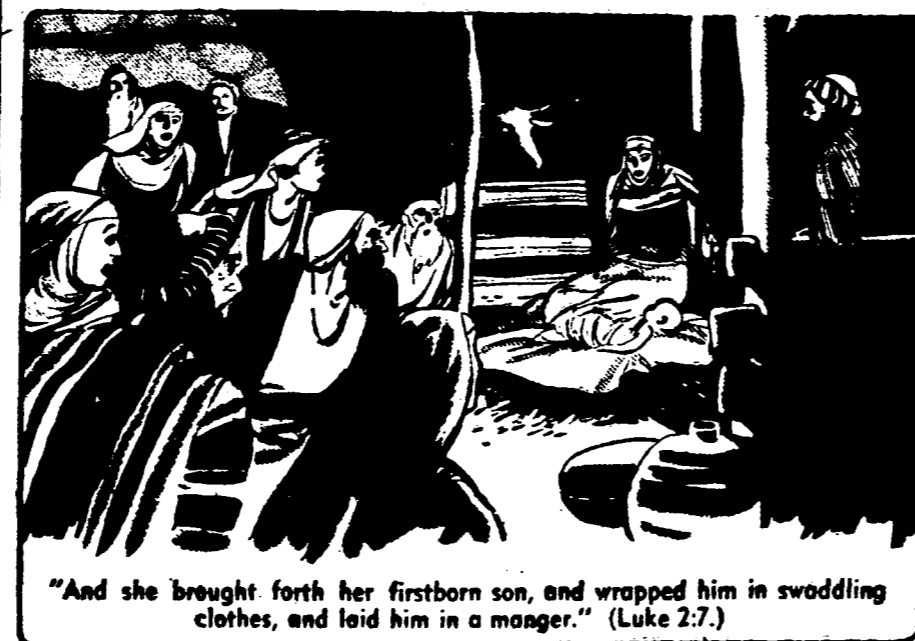

Judges were Miss Elizabeth Hastings, Dr. Malcolm Stewart and George Horton.

Miss Margaret Foreman of this city, president of the I. C. chapter, Pi Kappa Delta, national forensics society, served as moderator.

To the Man Who Is Worried About His Friends...

OCCASIONALLY, we encounter a man who hesitates to buy a Cadillac for fear his friends might think him ostentatious.

For all such people, we have the most reassuring news: The experience of Cadillac owners would indicate that your fears are without foundation.

True, the world has long since recognized that a Cadillac car is a fine and distinguished possession—but most people understand that quality is not a luxury, and that distinction is the offspring of goodness.

The facts in support of Cadillac's practicality are so convincing that the mere recital of just a few should be sufficient reassurance for the most hesitant buyer. Take, for instance, the matter of cost. There are eight other makes of cars which actually have certain models that are priced above the lowest-priced Cadillac. There is long life, for example. Four Cadillacs, of the 1942 Series, ran a total of 2,599,000 miles in a test recently concluded by a great tire manufacturer—almost 650,000 miles per car. All four were then sold into private service—and are still going strong!

Then there is economy. Innumerable tests show that the 1949 Cadillac actually approaches the lowest-priced popular cars in gasoline economy.

And, finally, there are the dependability records—which prove that the car's freedom from the need of repairs is just as unusual as its performance and beauty! Yes—if you are ready for a Cadillac, come in. You will never make a more sensible purchase—or one of which your friends will more heartily approve.

Five high scores count for team score. The Beardstown team was led by Lloyd Miller 347, followed by Virgil Showalter 339, Elmer Greathouse 330, Lyman Peck 328, and Bill Morrison 321. Other shooters were Jim Bowman 318, Bob Warden 307, Charles Clement 297, Pete McLeod 291 and Leo Morrell 203.

The local group was led by a consistently high scorer, Dolly Robbins 374, followed by a junior, Friedrich Engelbach, Jr., 373, Alvin Marshall 372, Robert Foster 372, and Leo Fuchs 370. Beecher Family Bible Exhibited At I. C. Library

A large and ornately stamped Bible belonging to the illustrious Beecher family, now the property of Illinois College, has been placed on exhibit in Tanner library along with a number of other valuable historical documents.

The Beecher family Bible and the manuscript of an historical novel by the college's first president were presented to the college last summer by John Beecher, a great grandson of Edward Beecher, a resident of California.

The Bible is inscribed "Edward Beecher, from Mrs. Eunice Beecher, wife of H. W. (Henry Ward) Beecher." In the pages reserved for such entries are recorded the histories of a large portion of the family. Beginning with the birth dates of Lyman Beecher and his son, Edward, the entries include complete listings of the children of these two men.

Large families were a Beecher tradition, as shown by the records. Lyman Beecher was the father of 18 children, several of whom achieved distinction. Among them were such outstanding figures as Henry Ward Beecher, Harriet Beecher Stowe and Edward Beecher.

XXXV
THE nurse began to shake down a thermometer: "I'm sorry, but your visitors must go, Mr. Yakov."

Trotter, Hagar and Stephanie began to move quietly to the door. "Miss Serenov!" Yakov called faintly.

Stephanie turned. "I ask your pardon, but I cannot think of anyone else who might feel kindly toward Babushka. Would it be possible that you would call at my house and see to my small cat's food and water? Also, that the window where she jumps to the yard is open sufficiently? A key to my studio will be found beneath the fifth flower pot on the window ledge."

"I'll be glad to, Mr. Yakov." She hesitated a moment in the doorway as though there were something more she wanted to say. Hagar fidgeted as Trotter drove them up Crest Drive to the gray-shingled house. When he refused to come inside for a cup of coffee, her face showed frank relief and she bid him an enthusiastic goodbye.

"Seems like I've been to Timbuktu," Hagar commented as she slid the key into the lock. "Place! Look to me like its carpeted in gold after being a guest of the city for two days." She swung the door open and heaved an explosive sigh: "Ha! Here we are! Well, what do you say, girl? Isn't it good to be home?"

Stephanie sank down on her favorite hassock. "Poor old Tom O'Neill!"

Hagar strode over and stood with her fists on her hips: "Why poor? The man murdered Falter, your aunt, and had a try at Yakov and your own man, Reddy!"

"I feel sorry for anyone who lived with Nellya. I'm sure she was the one who caused it all."

Hagar marched toward the kitchen. "Don't speak ill of the dead," she called back. "How about a cup of coffee?"

Just as Hagar was putting on the teakettle, there was the sound of squealing brakes outside, followed by the slam of a car door.

REDDY stepped in, smiling, and Stephanie flung her arms around his neck.

He laughed down at her: "Easy, baby, easy! Remember my consultations! I'm not supposed to have any excitement for at least a week. After that—we'll get married!"

Hagar glanced at them with mock severity. "Never mind the romance—time for that later. You came over here to tell us a story, Reddy. Begin with the letters, the ones Yakov swiped from Falter's place the night of the murder."

Reddy sighed. "That's as good a starting point as any, I guess. Well, the letters were from Nell to Falter, and from another Mrs. O'Neill to Falter."

"Another Mrs. O'Neill?" It came simultaneously from Hagar and Stephanie.

Reddy nodded. "It seems that Tom was not legally divorced from Wife No. 4 when he married wife No. 5—Nell. Falter, with his genius for digging up little items like that about people, had got wind of it and was blackmailing Tom. Strange as it may seem, Tom seemed actually to be in love with Nell, and Falter had convinced him that she'd leave his bed and board if she found out about the bigamy angle."

Hagar snapped her fingers: "So he killed Falter because he was tired of paying blackmail?"

"No, it wasn't quite as simple as that. Falter was doing a neat little job of double blackmail. He'd been in correspondence with the other Mrs. O'Neill who was working down in Miami and had convinced her that she could get quite a nice income out of Tom by allowing Martin to handle the affair for her. Falter was getting $500 a month out of Tom and was sending about a third of it to the little lady in Miami."

"Hagar shook her head. "I don't get it. Why didn't the Miami girl hold Tom up herself when he left her?"

"According to the letter she wrote Falter, Tom had given her a nice round sum when they called it quits and she had agreed to let him divorce her. But, before he got around to that formality, he met Nell, was completely bowled over and married her without bothering to divorce wife No. 4."

"Okay," Hagar agreed, "I'll buy that. Now, then, you figure Tom killed Martin because he was tired of paying him money and because he was afraid Martin would eventually tell Nell about the Miami affair and Nell would leave him?"

"NOT quite. Tom had concealed three things inside that blue ceramic figurine he made at the time of the first murder. One was the murder weapon, which, as Arnold Pfeiffer suspected, was this bodkin thing Tom had talked him out of; the second was a blood-stained shirt Tom evidently had worn at the time of the murder; and the third was a crumpled letter Nell had written to Martin when he was out of town on one of his deliberately arranged trips. We found out from Trotter that Falter had pulled that little trick before to get his intended victim to write incriminating letters. Anyway, this letter from Nell O'Neill told Falter she intended to divorce Tom, hold him up for a tidy settlement and then elope with Falter."

"Tom and Falter were drinking in Bob's place—they had an argument there. But before that Tom slipped sleeping pills in Falter's drink, so he could go to Falter's studio later and search for the blackmail letters. Tom was mentally and emotionally unbalanced and so when he found this particular letter from Nell, he went into a jealous blackout and stabbed the sleeping Falter. He took that one letter with him to brood over and foolishly left the others on the floor, where Yakov discovered them later."

What Every Woman Wants

Los Angeles —(P)—Radio giveaway programs are popular because they play the good fairy in this mechanistic age, says Dr. Franklin Fearing, U.C.L.A. psychologist.

Fearing analyzed the "wishes" submitted by women on one such program, and found 35 per cent wanted special experiences, such as a date with a movie star or a trip to Bermuda; 30 per cent wanted practical things like automatic washing machines or vacuum cleaners; 18 per cent asked for special services, such as medical care or a job; 13 per cent asked for luxury items like mink coats or television sets, and only 4 per cent wanted bizarre or unrealistic gifts.

JACKKNIFE ARTIST

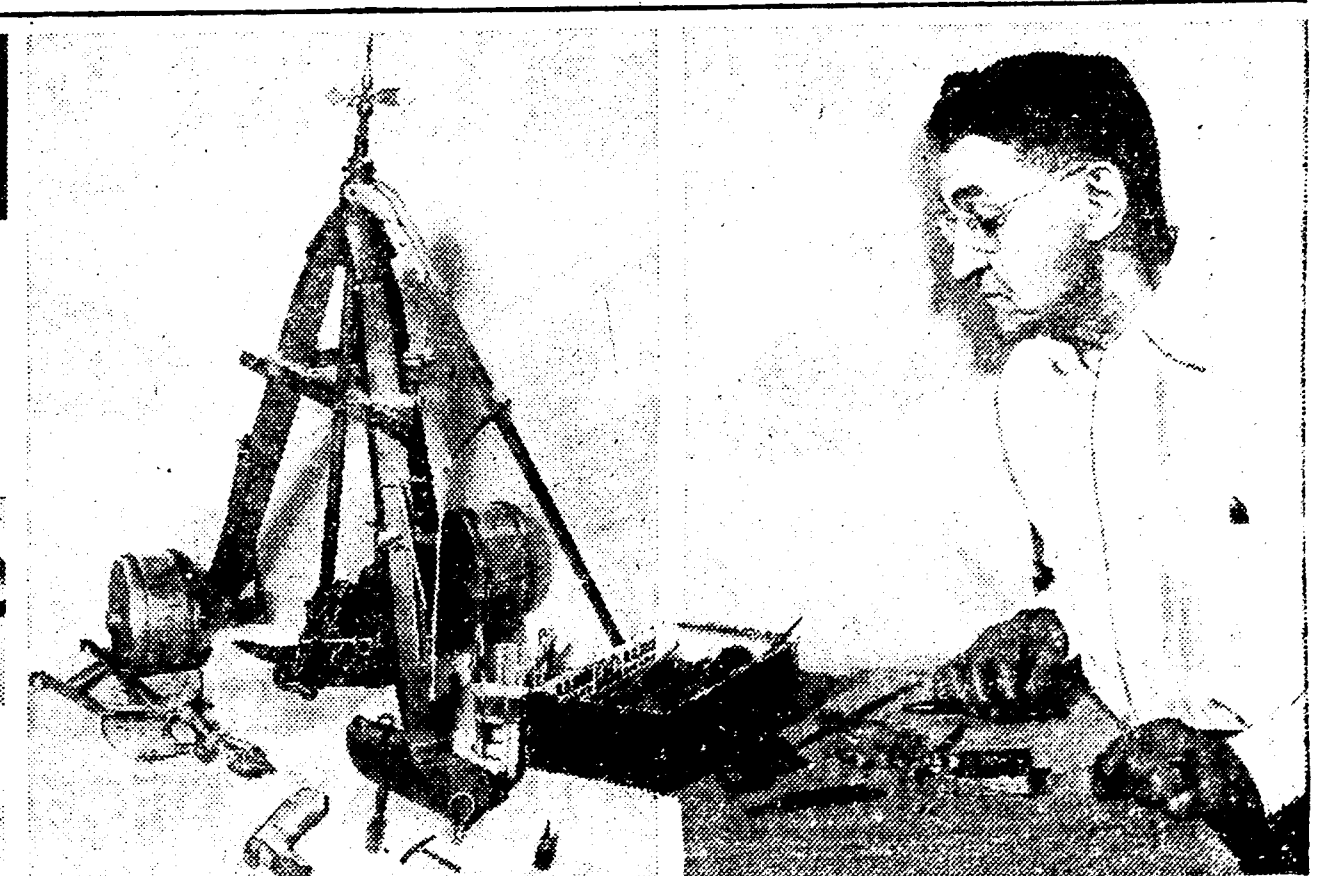

FOR about half a century Albert Stienke of Indian River, Mich., has been whittling his spare time away. A jack-knife specialist, he has developed his whittling into a real art; it's amazing what he can do with a single chunk of scrap wood. The Indian River whittler has fashioned a virtual museum of intricate designs—toys, machinery in miniature, models of tools, lighthouses, churches, barns, jewelry.

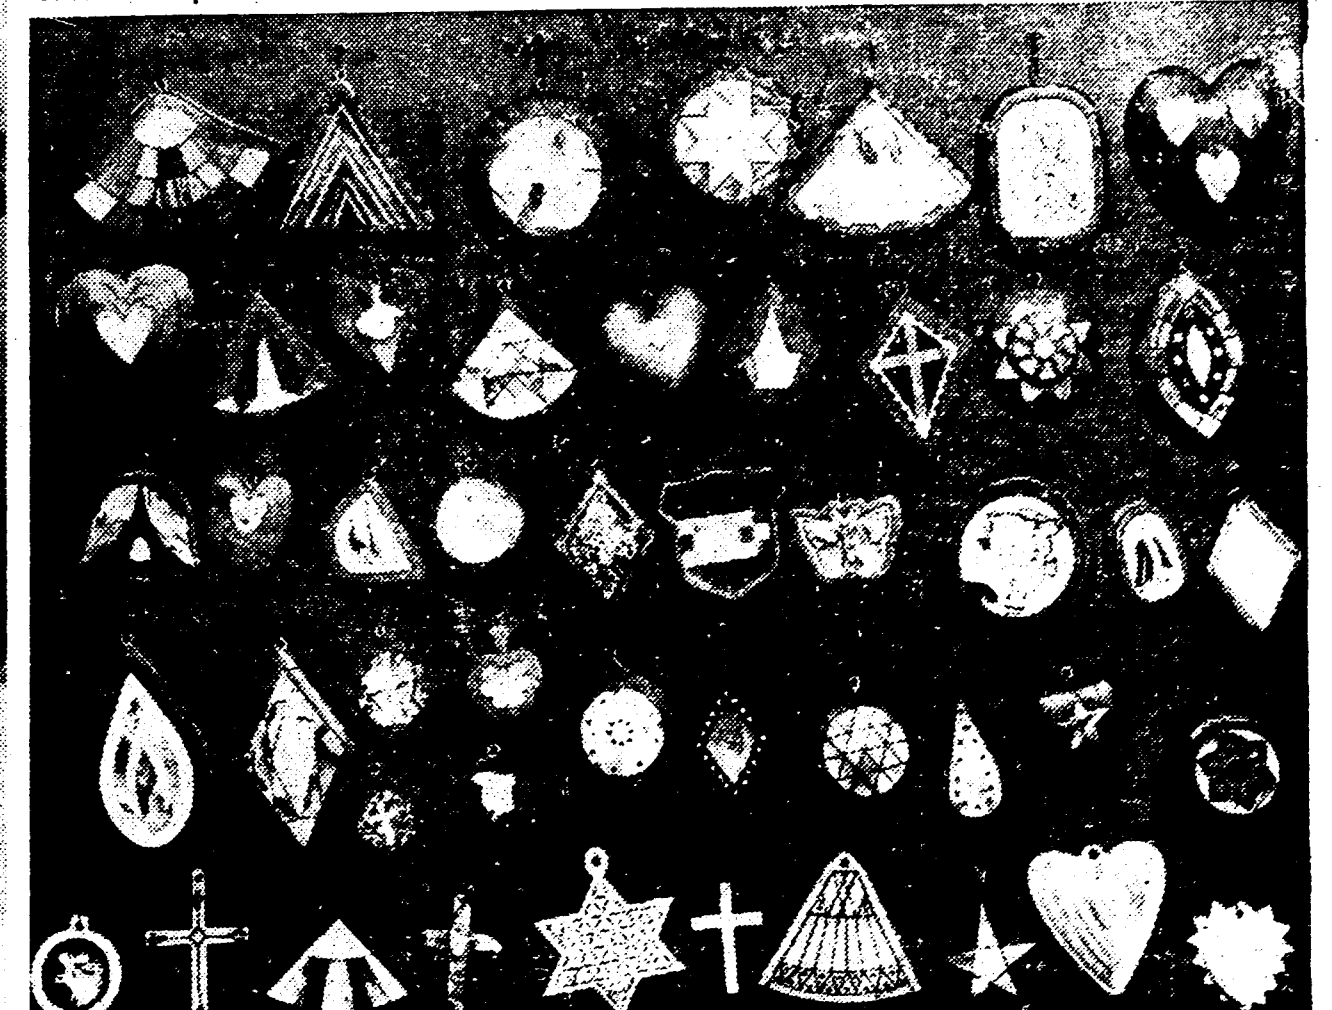

Stienke started whittling with this knife when a boy of 10, has worn the blade down to a stub in 50 years of whittling.

Duplicate of original is this Stienke copy of a Great Lakes lighthouse, even to number of blocks. Church is duplicate, too.

This miniature stump puller, surrounded by other examples of his art, is Stienke's pride. Albert Stienke looks over his "tools" before starting to carve another item for collection.

The Indian River whittler carved these finely-finished pins out of bits of scrap wood. The final touches were made by inlaying them with intricate patterns of various-colored shell.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Chicago, Dec. 9.—(P)—Barrows and gilts showed steady to strong tone today but sows were steady to 25 cents lower. Cattle too were mixed with steers and heifers grading low.

Good and below looking weak but their firm 25 cents higher and vealers 50 cents up. Lambs were steady, yearlings weak, and ewes firm.

Most butcher hogs grading good and choice sold at $14.75 to $15.00. A part-load merited $16.10. Sows took $11.50 to $13.25 and a top for a few at $13.50. Clearance was good.

A load of good steers brought $29.00 and medium to low-grade steers were $21.00 to $28.00. Medium to low-grade heifers sold at $20.00 and up to $26.00. Good cows topped at $18.00, sausage bulls at $20.10, and vealers at $27.50.

Choice woolled lambs held to their $23.50 level while eyes ranged downward from $11.50.

Estimated receipts on sale included 12,000 hogs, 1,200 cattle, 300 calves, and 1,500 sheep.

SOYBEANS AND LARD EASY NEAR CLOSE

Chicago, Dec. 9.—(P)—Eastland in soybeans and lard toward the close provided the only real trend in commodities on the Board of Trade today.

Trends in major grains were mixed with some contracts showing losses and some making gains.

With loose lard quoted around the $10.00 level since 1941, lard futures encountered moderate hedging pressure.

Relatively slight declines carried January, March, May and July contracts to new seasonal lows. Soybeans sank in sympathy with fats and oils.

Mills gave wheat a little support, lifting hedges against reported sales of 116,272 sacks of hard wheat flour to the army quartermaster.

New crop deliveries, weak yesterday, showed more firmness today despite light rain and snow in the winter wheat belt.

Receipts were: wheat 14 cars, corn 106, oats 24, rye 1, barley 29, soybeans 8.

Wheat closed 8-14 higher, December $2.19-1.21; corn was 1-14 higher, December $1.29-1.29; oats were 2-14 higher, December 77; rye was 1-14 higher, December $1.43-1.43.

Blueboy Five Bows To Washington U. 60-42; Invade Quincy Tonight

St. Louis—A battling Illinois College Blueboy quintet fell before Washington University 60-42 on the Missouri college's boards here last night.

Ice roads hampered the Jacksonville team's trip to St. Louis and they arrived only 20 minutes before game time last night.

TO GET UP EARLY IS STAGGERING. Chicago—(P)—Here is some staggering news: A committee looked into the problem of the congestion that results from the old custom of everybody going to work and quitting at the same time. The committee suggested to Mayor Martin H. Kennelly that about 25,000 utility and financial firm employees, start work a half hour earlier (8 a.m.) and leave a half hour earlier (4:30 p.m.).
